I learned to ask “why” before changing a design.

Café sessions made our naïve assumptions visible — Ω was our symbol.